

ITALY
2012

Lloyd's Cycling Club 2012

ITALY September 2012

We are arranging our annual venture - a long weekend of cycling in the Eastern Italian Alps leaving Friday 7th September and returning Tuesday 11th September.

Preliminary Detail:

Friday 7th September

Early flight to Milan followed by a transfer to Bormio which will be the base for the trip.
Put the bikes together and get a short ride in that afternoon.

Saturday 8th September

Ride all day.

Major climbs: Stelvio (highest pass in Italy) and Umbrail.

Stats: 100km of riding and 3,177m of climbing (62 miles and 10,500ft)

Sunday 9th September

All day ride.

Major climbs: Gavia and Mortirolo (considered to be the toughest mountain one can climb in Italy and many professional cyclers consider it as the most difficult mountain to be climbed in any of the three major tours)

Stats: 103km of riding and 3,200m of climbing (64 miles and 10,500 ft).

Monday 10th September:

Ride all day.

Major climbs: Forcola and Foscagno.

Stats: 118km with 2,800m of climbing (74 miles and 9,200 ft)

Tuesday 11th September

Hopefully a morning ride before packing up to get to the airport for an evening flight.

Please note are still finalising cycling routes and will confirm with you prior to booking.

Cost:

Roughly Euro 895 including transfer, 3 star Hotel breakfast & dinner. Lunch, booz & flights in addition.

Tour organised by Cyclomundo who will supply a support vehicle. Deposit to secure your place £150.

If there is sufficient interest, we will look at a group returning on Monday 10th Sept - let us know.

PLEASE REGISTER YOUR INTEREST ASAP WITH BOMBER (bomber8@me.com).

Note - spaces are limited.

Both Photos are of the Passo dello Stelvio.

